Afghanistan: TTP Terrorists Facing Severe Difficulties

Continuous administrative vacuum in Afghanistan has led TTP to use Afghan territory against Pakistan, however existing ground realities are complex and different from the past.

Afghan Talibans' pressure on TTP to stop anti-Pakistani activities is ever increasing. Moreover, TTP terrorists are facing difficulties in movement, which is placing mental strain on them.

TTP terrorists are forced to live a life of deprivation due to severe weather conditions, difficulty in movement due to snowfall, shortage of food, inadequate accommodation facilities, financial difficulties and non-availability of daily necessities. Whereas, TTP leadership including Noor Wali Mehsud are living a comfortable life.

Common TTP terrorists are deeply disappointed and want to return to Pakistan due to growing administrative and financial difficulties in Afghanistan and clear message of Pakistani religious scholars denouncing terrorism.
